Joy JARVIS is currently Professor of Educational Practice at the University of Hertfordshire and a UK National Teaching Fellow.

She has experience in a wide range of education contexts and works to create effective learning experiences for students and colleagues. She is particularly interested in the professional learning of those engaged in educational practice in higher education settings and has undertaken a range of projects, working with colleagues locally, nationally and internationally, to develop practice in teaching and leadership of teaching.

Joy works with doctoral students exploring aspects of educational practice and encourages them to be adventurous in their methodological approaches and to share their findings in a range of contexts to enable practice change.

She is currently working with colleagues in the HE sector developing resources for staff and students to use to explore ways of learning together.
